Subject: Baylands

Dear Brisbane City Council members: I do NOT believe it is in the best interest of Brisbane -- or the Bay Area -- to build thousands of housing units on the Baylands. Traffic and congestion are getting worse each month and this would only exacerbate an already intolerable situation. Also, there are plenty of Bay Area housing units, but owners are putting them on Airbnb and other "shared economy" websites for tourists, which has been reported upon in the San Francisco Chronicle. Doubling the size of our lovely town -- and building on top of toxics -- will change the small town feel that we love about Brisbane. I encourage you to vote NO and save us the money and heartache of going through the election process, as it is likely to fail. Mayor Lee and other San Franciscans may put pressure on Brisbane for housing, but the housing crisis was caused by San Francisco by giving the tech industry huge tax breaks which brought in droves of techies from out of the area who displaced many of the low-income San Francisco residents. We should not feel guilty about putting Brisbane first.

Sincerely,

Sherry Goodwin, Brisbane
